

My Best Friend — Essays & Paragraphs

50-Word Essay

My best friend's name is Zara. We have studied together since kindergarten and share everything with each other. She is kind, honest, and always ready to help me. We play, laugh, and study together every day. I feel very lucky to have such a caring and loyal friend like her.

100-Word Paragraph (Classes 4-5)

My best friend is Ali. We live in the same sector in Islamabad. We study in the same school and class. He is very caring, cooperative, and always has a smiling face. We sit together on the same bench and share everything and our lunch boxes. Ali is great at drawing logos, and he always helps me with my art projects. In the evening, we play cricket in the neighborhood ground. Whenever I am sad, he always cheers me up and makes me feel better. I am very lucky to have such a kind and loyal friend. Our friendship is truly special.

150-Word Paragraph (Classes 6-8)

True friendship is a rare and precious gift, and I am lucky to have found it in my best friend, Ahmed. We have been fellow students for the past five years, and our connection grows stronger every day. Ahmed is a bright and hardworking student who always gets excellent marks in his exams. Whenever I struggle with math or any other subject, he patiently explains the concepts to me until I understand. Outside of the classroom, we are both huge fans of playing cricket and hanging out to play video games. What I like most about Ahmed is that he is always honest and helpful. He respects elders and behaves respectfully with everyone. Even during arguments, we resolve our differences quickly without staying angry. Having a trustworthy friend like him makes my school life happy and exciting. He is not just my classmate, but a brother to me, and I hope our friendship continues forever.

200-Word Paragraph (Classes 9-10)

A true friend is a source of strength, and for me, that person is my best friend, Rania. We have been best friends since primary school. Over the years, we grew up side by side and shared everything. We laughed through the happy moments, stayed close during hard times, and kept each other's deepest secrets. Every memory we made together has shaped who we are today, and our bond only grows stronger with time. Rania has an inspiring personality; she is hardworking, empathetic, and remarkably talented in public speaking. High school is stressful, but she is the one who always makes me feel better. We balance each other perfectly, studying together for board exams and motivating one another to achieve our academic goals.

What makes our connection unique is the mutual trust and understanding we share. Rania is someone I can confide in without any fear of judgment. She never hesitates to correct me when I am wrong, which shows her genuine care for my personal growth. Whether we are participating in school debates, celebrating birthdays, or just walking home together, her presence brings immense positivity. In a world where relationships can be superficial, having a sincere and loyal friend like Rania is a true blessing. She has made my life so much better, and I truly value our unbreakable friendship.

Two General Facts About Friendship

- Most adults keep between 3 and 5 close friends throughout their life.
- 61% of U.S. adults say having close friends is extremely or very important for a fulfilling life — more than marriage, children, or money.
